"Believing In All Children"

February 2014

Dear Family,

It is hard to believe it is February already and the school year is halfway over! The time sure does fly by, doesn't it? That's why it is important to make the best of each day! :)

At this time of the school year, students' supplies begin to run low, can you please touch base with your child to see what supplies are needed? You may find that pencils, erasers, crayons, and/or folders may be needed. You can ask your child's teacher also.

Reading tip for the month:

Our elementary students need to be exposed to informational texts as well as fiction. Have your child read non-fiction books (writings based on facts/real events/ real people), and then ask them to tell you and/or write three facts about their reading. Perhaps, you can start a journal with the various pieces of informational text notes to review over time! Happy reading!

Have a great month!
DaNita S. Berry, Principal

A note from Mrs. Cumo, school counselor...

As I celebrate my 23rd National School Counseling Week this month, I feel very grateful to be helping Genoa and Watson students prepare for the challenges of the 21st century. The school counseling field has come a long way. School counselors now work with all students to increase academic achievement and remove barriers to learning. In addition to the above, during February, Malone University intern, Mr. Calzada and I will be presenting lessons to all second and fourth graders on coping with family change and divorce. I will be available during parent conferences. Please call if you would like to schedule a conference.
